COTTON IS JUDGE

PORTLAND ATTORNEY TO SUCCEED LATE C. E. BELLINGER.

W. D. Fenton Likely to Replace Him
As Attorney for the Harriman Lines in Oregon.

W. W. Cotton of Portland has been appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed the late Judge Bellinger as United States district judge for Oregon. Inasmuch as Mr. Cotton has stated that he would be unable to enter upon his new duties until September 1, the appointment is to take effect at that time. Senator Fulton strongly urged the appointment of Mr. Cotton, and the choice was also approved by the attorney general.

Senator Fulton has been desirous that Mr. Cotton should succeed Judge Bellinger and has strongly urged on him that he allow his name to be submitted to the president. At first Mr. Cotton was unwilling to consider the suggestion, feeling that he could not give up his position as general counsel for the O. R. & N. Co. He went to California for a short trip and while he was there he received from Senator Fulton another urgent request that he reconsider his former decision, and assurances were given that if he would do so he could have the appointment. He replied that he could not take the position and Senator Fulton accordingly wired to Washington that the negotiations were all off.

But the question was again broached after Mr. Cotton's return from California and he finally decided that he would accept provided he could be allowed until September 1 to arrange his affairs. Senator Fulton accordingly wired to the attorney general that Mr. Cotton might be induced to accept an appointment. Mr. Cotton definitely agreed to do so on the conditions named and Senator Fulton again wired to the attorney general acquainting him with the facts. The appointment has followed with a promptness which bespeaks the satisfaction of the president and the attorney general with the selection of Mr. Cotton.

Speculation has already arisen as to Mr. Cotton's successor as the legal head of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company. W. D. Fenton is regarded as the logical successor to the position, being the other legal representative in Oregon of the Harriman interests. Mr. Fenton's long connection with the Southern Pacific and his intimate acquaintance with local conditions afford strong reasons for supposing that he will step into the place made vacant by the elevation of Mr. Cotton to the federal bench.

AN ELEGANT SUMMER BOOK.

Splendid Publication Issued By the O. R. & N. Company.

"Restful Recreation Resorts," the 1905 summer book issued by the passenger department of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co., contains 48 pages and cover. The book is printed on heavy white paper, 58 cuts being used to illustrate the trips up and down the Columbia river to the mountains, beaches, inland resorts and fountains of healing. The cover is done in three colors, adding materially to the beauty and effectiveness of the publication, which may be had by sending two cents in stamps to A. L. Craig, general passenger agent, Portland, Oregon. It is a good thing to send to your friends in the east who expect to visit the Lewis and Clark exposition.

Annual School Meeting.

At the annual school meeting yesterday A. M. Gillis was elected director for the three year term, and David Williams for the two year term. O. G. Chamberlain was elected district clerk. A. B. McEwen is chairman of the board.

LOW RATES IS GUARANTEED.

One Fare Will be Charged to Those Holding Exposition Tickets.

By concessions on the part of the Harriman lines extending westward, the limit within which one fare, side trip rates will be allowed to visitors to Portland holding Lewis and Clark exposition excursion tickets, the difficulty between the railroads and the Portland Commercial club having been amicably adjusted. The new territory embraces Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Idaho, and allows a much more liberal opportunity for exposition visitors to travel over Oregon at much cheaper rates than under the arrangement first announced and against which protest was entered.

Formerly one fare, round-trip rates were allowed only to travelers holding excursion tickets purchased east of Harven on the Great Northern; Billings on the Northern Pacific; Colorado common points on the Union Pacific and Texas and east on the Southern Pacific lines.

Christian Church Reunion.

Sunday was a great day for the congregation of the Christian church in this city. Eighty-three were registered from the congregation at Pendleton, and the number was swelled to many more by disciples from Walla Walla, Milton and Weston, and from Adams and Helix. The sermon was preached by N. H. Brooks, pastor of the Pendleton church. In the afternoon the time was taken up in a resume of the church's history in this place, and a report of the various departments of the church work. Dinner was served in the dining room to about three hundred.

Indians at the Fair.

Louis Bergevin and Mike Gratz, who were in Portland last week in the interest of the Indians of the reservation, say that arrangements will be made to take thirty of the best specimens of the Umatilla tribe to the Lewis and Clark fair to furnish entertainment for the visitors during the summer.—Pendleton Tribune.

Invited to Portland.

Invitations were wired to Washington by the exposition officials and Governor Chamberlain suggesting that the peace conference be held in Portland. The conditions are ideal. The city is nearer the seat of war and has trade relations with both countries and has a delightful climate.

Well Known Pioneer.

The funeral of Reuben L. Oliver, who died suddenly of heart failure at Echo, was held Saturday afternoon from the M. E. church in that place, Rev. I. H. Gobbie officiating. The funeral was largely attended.

MARTIN MURDER TRIAL

Commenced Yesterday at Pendleton Before Circuit Judge Ellis.

Pendleton, June 20.—The names of the jurymen who will decide the fate of Grover Martin, charged with murder in the first degree in the killing of O. N. Preston are S. A. Hampton, Henry Craig, Edward Morgan, John Bryant, John McKeown, F. M. Oliver, H. Boylen, Marion Jack, M. McCracken, M. J. Foster, Jerry Barnhart, Frank Snyder.

Martin was escorted to the court room yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Blakley and his father, who remained with the young man steadily throughout the entire day. Martin was cool and collected and was an attentive listener to the proceedings. He seemed absolutely composed and his face bore no signs of anxiety or suspense during the tedious procedure of selecting the jurors. Beside him sat his father, who seemed equally buoyant, though at times when the counsel for the state made a critical examination of the jurors or touched upon the delicate phase of the crime for which the young man is being tried, he looked serious and conversed with his son encouragingly.

The defendant is being represented by Colonel J. H. Raley, W. M. Peterson of Athena, and S. D. Peterson of Milton. The state's fight is being made by District Attorney G. W. Phelps and Judge James A. Fee.

Before securing twelve men satisfactory to both sides, thirty-three men were examined, eight of whom were excused for cause, eight excused by the defense and five excused by the state. Owing to the character of the case, many of the men examined were anxious to be dismissed and excuses were made without hesitation.

Death of Pioneer Fanning

Pendleton, June 19.—C. O. Fanning, one of the oldest pioneers in this county, died late this forenoon at the J. H. Raley ranch, on McKay creek. Death was due to advanced age, the old gentleman being over 80. For a year or more past Mr. Fanning has been in ill health, and of late he has been gradually growing worse. Mr. Fanning came to this part of the state with the first settlers 42 years ago and at first was a packer between Umatilla and the mines of Eastern Oregon and Idaho. He was raised in the east and came of a good family. On leaving home he first went to the Isthmus of Panama where he remained for a time and then came on to California in '49. From there he drifted northward a few years later. The old Fanning ranch at the mouth of McKay creek was purchased by the deceased from Dr. McKay, when the country was but sparsely settled, and he made his home there for many years.

Work on the Celilo Canal

Portland, June 19.—By the last of this month the first actual work of building the government canal at Celilo will be started. Next Friday bids for the construction of the upper part of the proposed water way will be opened in the office of Major W. C. Langfitt. Immediately after the contract has been let, digging operations will be commenced. The portion of the canal on which work will soon be started is about 2500 feet in length; $350,000 will be spent on it. It is the intention to have the project pushed with all possible haste. Of course this will be but a small start toward the building of the canal, which, when completed, will be more than eight miles in length. It will possibly be five years before boats are threading their way through the canal.

Mitchell Pleads in Person

Portland, June 19.—Senator Mitchell appeared in the federal court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to complicity in the land fraud cases in which he pleaded last week through his attorney, there being a question of legality in the former proceedings. Land Commissioner Richards and other witnesses have arrived from Washington to be present at the trial, which opens tomorrow.

STRIVE FOR FUND

PLAN TO KEEP NORMAL SCHOOL
OPEN CONTINUOUSLY.

According to the Plan of Action the Subscriptions May Be Regarded Simply as Loans.

Within the next two weeks strong efforts will be made by the management of the Normal school at Weston to secure the guarantee of sufficient funds to maintain the school until the next session of the legislature, and those in charge are confident they will succeed, says the East Oregonian.

A meeting of the board of regents was held Friday evening and the following members were present: R. Alexander, president; P. A. Worthington, secretary; J. H. Raley, W. M. Blakeley, G. W. Proebstel and Jerry Stone. Also, President French was in attendance to advise with the regents in the course to be pursued.

After discussing the outlook and the prospect for continuing the school President French, P. A. Worthington and G. W. Proebstel were appointed as a committee to solicit funds for the school, and directed to report at another meeting to be held on June 30, at which time definite action regarding the future of the school will be taken.

In speaking of the matter President French said he had no doubt whatever but that sufficient means can be secured to continue the school with its full faculty during the next two years, or rather until the next session of the legislature. A large proportion of the amount will be raised by the people of Weston, and he stated that assurances of support have also been made by numerous people in other parts of the county.

According to President French money will be solicited as a loan rather than a donation, for it is fully expected that the legislature can be induced to reimburse subscribers for the amount given, should the school be maintained during the interval. In fact, the strength displayed by the friends of the normal school at the last session is regarded as almost positive guarantee that such will be done.

As to just how much will be required to keep the school going until an appropriation can be secured, President French could not definitely say, but intimated that $15,000 would be sufficient. It is the desire to run the school with the entire faculty, and thus avoid impairing the usefulness of the school.

PAID HER CAR FARE.

Ungrateful Maiden at Baker City Then Wrote Another.

If a settlement is not reached within the next day or two one of the most unique suits in Baker county legislation will be filed.

A few days ago Mary Marshall arrived from the east, her expenses having been paid by a rancher by the name of Miller, under contract that she was to marry Miller on her arrival. They had opened correspondence through a marriage bureau, had passed photos, and upon the evidence at hand had entered into the contract in writing by mail. Rancher Miller had sent the ticket and expense money and went to the depot at Baker City promptly to meet his intended bride.

Miss Marshall told him on the spot that he was not a fac simile of the photo she had received, but that he had duped her by sending her the picture of a handsome man. Miller insisted that he had dealt fairly, had paid the coin, and that he was ready to fulfill his contract. Upon the other hand, she denied his statements and demanded money to pay her expenses to her home in the east.

While she was figuring with a lawyer and he was trying to bring about reconciliation with his fiancée, Tom Hyatt married Miss Marshall. Rancher Miller now demands the money he expended in bringing the maiden to Baker City, stating that he is not paying traveling expenses for brides for other men, and declares that if it is not forthcoming he will bring suit. The happy bridegroom is perfectly willing to pay the bill.

O. R. & N. Issues Game Laws.

The freight department of the O. R. & N. has issued game laws of Oregon and Washington and sent them as a circular to agents as a protection against shipping game out of season. The company is determined not to encourage unlawful hunting by shipping game when it is prohibited by law and all agents will see that the provisions of the law are enforced as far as the company is concerned.
